DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after allowance or after an Office action under Ex Parte Quayle, 25 USPQ 74, 453 O.G. 213 (Comm'r Pat. 1935). Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, prosecution in this application has been reopened pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on December 22, 2005 has been entered.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. The indicated allowability of claims 7, 9 and 37-39 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Corson. Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Corson (2512310).

Corson discloses a thermoplastic layer comprising embossments 12,13 on both sides thereof. The embossments are in the form concave portions of a trough-like geometry 10, 13a and convex portions of a plateau-forming top surface 12, 13 as shown in figures 1-3. The plateau-forming top surface contains fine concave and convex portions shown as minute v-shaped grooves. Refer to figures 1-3.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Art Unit: 1772

8. Claims 9 and 37-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Corson.

The primary reference teaches the invention substantially as recited except for the specific surface roughness of the plateau-forming top surface and embossments, and width of the top surface of the plateau. See the 35 U.S.C. 102 rejection above.

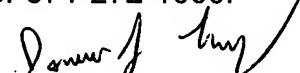

However, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to Corson to form the top surface and embossments of the roughness as recited motivated by the fact Corson already discloses the surfaces as rough due to its topography and one would form them as rough as desired for a particular application (i.e. degree of slipperiness of the mat). Regarding claim 39, it would be obvious to form the plateau of the percent width of the pitch of the embossment motivated by the fact Corson already teaches the side walls of the embossments as sloped, therefore, the plateau would be less than 100% of the pitch (which would be when the side walls are perpendicular to the X- axis) and this would only involve a mere change in shape and/or size which is generally within ordinary skill in the art. See MPEP 2144.04IV.
